DETAILED ACTION

Election Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-11, drawn to a printing apparatus with the first and second timing outputted alternatively, with a displacement width between pixel and displaced position narrower than between pixels, displacement width is half of the spacing pixels.

Group II, claim 12, drawn to a printing method with steps of outputting a first timing a periodical timing, outputting a second timing a periodical timing, selecting either the first timing or second timing.

Group III, claim 13, drawn to a program that executes steps of carrying medium, performing moving and ejecting, outputting first and second timing, selecting first or second timing.

Group IV, claim 14, drawn to a printing system comprising a computer and a printing apparatus that communicates with the computer, with a nozzle that performs moving and ejecting during an interval of carry operation.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I, II, III, and IV do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The groups listed above are not within the permitted combination of different categories of inventions. As set forth in PCT/JP2005/013759, there is no special technical feature that defines a contribution over the prior arts US 6,142,598, US 6,312,096, EP 1040925, EP 0885732, JP 11-10842, and JP 06-191041 define common technical features.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- A. Printing process in interlace mode according to Figs. 15A,15B.
- B. Printing process in interlace mode according to Figs. 16A,16B.
- C. Printing process in overlap mode according to Figs. 17A,17B.

4. Upon election of Group A,B, or C the applicant is further required to elect one of the following disclosed species. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- a. Dot arrangement according to Figs. 21A,21B.
- b. Dot arrangement according to Figs. 22B,22C.
- c. Dot arrangement according to Figs. 23B,23C.

- d. Dot arrangement according to Figs. 24B,24C.
- e. Dot arrangement according to Figs. 25A,25B.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: As set forth in PCT/JP05/08651, there is no special technical feature that defines a contribution over the prior art.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
